Camp Details

This cookbook is dedicated to all Wyoming cancer survivors - the newly diagnosed and those who have lost their battle; as well as the family, friends, caregivers and loved ones whose lives have been effected by cancer...especially the children.

Children in Wyoming diagnosed with cancer must travel out of state to receive specialized cancer care, as there are no cancer programs or hospitals in the state staffed and equipped to handle these special cases.

One hundred percent of the proceeds raised from this cookbook will go toward the creation of the first childhood cancer camp for children and families in Wyoming.

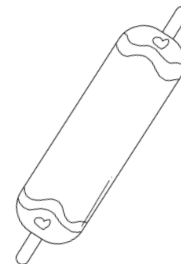

It is with this thought in mind that we have compiled these recipes. Whether the recipes are new or treasured family traditions that bring back fond memories, they were all submitted with love, by someone whose life has been touched by cancer.

The camp will be held August 10-12, 2012 at the Crooked Creek Guest Ranch in Dubois Wyoming!

This is a family camp and will include components for the child with cancer, the parents and the siblings. This will be a great time for Wyoming families to connect with others who are facing similar situations and feelings.

For more information on this camp, how to volunteer or how to submit an application for the acceptances into the camp, please contact Jessica Salvatore at 307-777-7362 or via email jessica.perez@wyo.gov
